JOURNAL CLUB

Supercomputing is Readily Available at UAF

but: Is It Right For Me?

by

Tom Baring
Vector Specialist, ARSC

ABSTRACT

The Arctic Region Supercomputing Center, across the street from the GI, operates several high-performance computer system and grants computer time to UAF researchers and students. This talk is a brief introduction to ARSC, and addresses the questions, "should I get an account?" and "could it make me more productive?"

Friday, December 5, 2003
Elvey Bldg. Globe Room
3:45 pm