

Acknowledgments

I would like to thank Professors David D. Houghton and David S. Battisti for acting as my co-advisers through thick and thin. Committee members, Professors Stefan Hastenrath, John A. Young, Matthew Hitchman, Zhengyu Liu, and John Strikwerda are thanked for their encouragement and advise over the years. I would like to acknowledge the very important role played by Dr. Michael Alexander in my research. I gained much from scientific discussions with Drs. Robert Gallimore and Yunlai Zhu during my time at Wisconsin.

This research was funded by the National Science Foundation (ATM-8822980, ATM-8913261, ATM-9302884) and the University of Wisconsin Graduate School. A grant from the NOAA Office of Climate and Global Change Program provided support for travel and publications.

Linda Keller helped me in ways I can not even enumerate and her assistance was invaluable once I was exiled to Tennessee. I would also like to thank Matt Hitchman, Tom Zapotocny, Fred Reames, and John A. Young for sharing their computer resources with me. I highly appreciate the computing assistance I received from Ruth Ross, Pat Behling, Gary Broughton, Larry Greischar, Dierk Polzin, and Allen Lenzen.

NCAR kindly provided the Isemer and Hasse (1985, 1987), Levitus (1982), Robinson et al. (1979), and Samuels and Cox (1987) data sets for use in this research. The COADS was provided by CIRES.

I appreciate the role played by my friends in my life during the past six years. I would like to thank Elaine Prins and Ken Bywaters for always being there despite our differing politics, :-). I really appreciate the encouragement, friendship, advice, and mothering I have received from Mike Alexander, Herbi Dreiner, Sevtap Karakoy, Linda Keller, Jose Marengo, Bill Olson, Zekai Otles, Ruth Ross, Ruth Schimmel, Michael Schoenfield, Mary Meyer Tyree, Celia Vanderloop, Denise Worthen, and Xiaohua Wu. I would like to thank Frank Li and Leslie Hartten for being generous officemates with great libraries. I thank Mary Beth Poremski for reminding me there is more to life than research. I would like to acknowledge Mike Coe, Steve Vavrus, and Richard Wagner for stimulating discussions about science and food.

I would like to thank my wonderful family (Usha Bhatt, Geeta Bhatt, Veda Bhatt, Nancy Hornewer, Joshua Moses, Dan Moses, Sally Newman, Ted Newman, Dara Newman, and Scott Samuels) for taking such good care of me and my boys during hectic times. I would like to acknowledge Katmai and Kodiak for keeping my feet warm and forcing me to get some exercise. Last but not at all least I would like to thank my husband, David E. Newman, for his eternal optimism and strength.
